March 10, 2020

BETHESDA, Md., March 10, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- AllSurplus, a Liquidity Services (NASDAQ: LQDT) online auction marketplace, is currently marketing two offshore production units from Petronas in a private treaty sale. The two high value assets, a 30,000 BFPD Self-Elevating Mobile Offshore Production Unit and an Early Production Vessel "Balai Mutiara", both offer buyers a convenient and cost-effective way to expand their production testing capacity. Both units are for sale on Liquidity Services' online auction marketplace AllSurplus which currently features over 6,000 surplus assets for sale from corporate and government organizations.

Acquiring these Mobile Offshore Production Units (MOPU's) enables offshore operators and contractors to cost effectively verify the economic viability of their offshore wells. The "Balai Mutiara" Early Production Vessel (EPV) is a self-propelled production and storage vessel, and the "Mobile Producer 1" Mobile Offshore Production Unit (MOPU) is a self-elevating jackup with production topside. Both vessels provide production and some storage capabilities to justify the economics of installing a fixed platform or to continue with mobile production operations.

"Oil & gas operators with offshore drilling activity can expand their production testing capacity through acquisition of these vessels from Petronas," said Brooks Graul, vice president of business development for Liquidity Services. "In the current environment operators are looking for opportunities to operate more efficiently and these vessels have a proven track record of performance with immediate availability for inspection, purchase and operation."

Interested buyers can view details for the Self-Elevating MOPU and the Balai Mutiara on our AllSurplus marketplace, including engineering documentation, vessel inspection reports, equipment & process manifests and registration documents.
